

COM 2219. Introduction to Media Writing I (I; 3)

This course introduces students to proper grammatical structure and writing styles used by journalists and communication professionals. Students will be introduced to basic writing formats for various forms of communication, including print journalism and electronic media. Students will develop language usage and grammar skills and learn Associated Press style. Emphasis will be placed on critical thinking and writing on deadlines. Prerequisite: ENG 1102.