Central State University Extension offering Home Vegetable Gardening Series at CSU Seed to Bloom Botanical and Community Garden

WILBERFORCE, OH –Central State University Extension (CSUE) is offering a series of free gardening seminars on growing home vegetables for the beginning gardener at the CSU Seed to Bloom Botanical and Community Garden located at the intersection of US 42 E and Wilberforce-Switch Road across the entrance to the university.

Sessions are designed for both adults and families; participants may come to one or all of the educational programs. Those attending all of the gardening programs will receive a certificate. Gardening programs will include:

- Thursday, September 16, 5-6:30 p.m., Final Harvest
- Thursday, September 30, 5-6:30 p.m., Garden Clean-up

Due to COVID-19 safety concerns, participants are limited to 25 individuals. Participants may be asked to wear masks and be safely socially distanced depending upon updated and/or revised state guidelines.

Advanced registration is requested and can be made by emailing CSUE Agriculture/Natural Resources Educator Clare Thorn at cthorn@CentralState.edu.
